Cambodia is predominantly a Buddhist country, with over 95% of the population adhering to Theravada Buddhism. This religious influence profoundly shapes perceptions of death, the afterlife, and rituals surrounding mourning.

- Rebirth and Karma: Cambodian Buddhists believe in the cycle of rebirth (samsara). Death is viewed as a transition rather than an end, where one's karma influences future rebirths.
- Merit-making: Performing good deeds and rituals for the deceased helps ease their journey into the next life and benefits the living by generating spiritual merit.
- Meditation and Reflection: Meditation practices often include reflections on mortality to cultivate mindfulness and acceptance of life's impermanence.

Ancestor Worship and Spirit Beliefs

Beyond Buddhism, traditional animist and ancestor worship beliefs coexist, emphasizing the importance of honoring ancestors to ensure their peaceful existence in the spiritual realm.

- Altar Offerings: Families maintain altars with offerings such as food, incense, and candles to appease spirits and seek their protection.

- Spirit Houses: Many homes feature spirit houses, small shrines where offerings are made to spirits believed to influence daily life and health.

Traditional Death and Mourning Practices in Cambodia

Funeral Rites and Rituals

Cambodian funeral practices are elaborate and reflect a blend of Buddhist and local beliefs.

- Preparation of the Body: The body is typically washed, dressed in traditional clothing, and placed in a coffin or bier.
- Visitation Period: Mourning periods can last several days, during which family and community gather to pay respects.
- Funeral Procession: Processions often involve chanting monks, music, and offerings, leading the body to the cremation site or burial ground.

Cremation and Burial Customs

- Cremation: The most common method, believed to facilitate the soul's journey. Cremation ceremonies often involve monks reciting prayers.
- Burial: Less common but still practiced in certain regions, especially among rural communities.

Mourning Period and Rituals

- Chanting and Prayer: Monks and family members recite sutras and prayers for the deceased's peaceful rebirth.
- Offerings and Merit-making: During mourning, families make merit through acts like giving alms or releasing animals.
