This article explores the fascinating evolution of speculative bubbles, examining key episodes that have shaped our understanding of economic mania and the enduring human desire for wealth.

The Origins of Economic Bubbles: The Tulip Mania of the 17th Century

What Was Tulip Mania?

In the early 17th century, the Netherlands experienced one of the first recorded speculative bubbles?Tulip Mania. Tulips, introduced to Europe from the Ottoman Empire, quickly became a luxury item associated with wealth and status. As demand surged, prices for rare tulip bulbs skyrocketed, with some bulbs selling for amounts equivalent to a skilled worker?s annual income.

The Rise and Fall of Tulip Speculation

- Rapid Price Increase: Between 1634 and 1637, tulip bulb prices soared, driven by speculation and greed.
- Futures Contracts: Traders began to buy and sell bulbs on the promise of future delivery, fueling the frenzy.
- The Crash: In February 1637, prices suddenly collapsed, leaving many investors bankrupt.

Lessons from Tulip Mania

While often exaggerated, Tulip Mania illustrates the dangers of speculative fervor and how market psychology can override rational valuation. It also highlights how new commodities can ignite collective greed, leading to economic distortions.

19th Century Bubbles and the Rise of Stock Markets

The South Sea Bubble (1720)

- Background: The South Sea Company was granted a monopoly on trade with South America.
