Historical and Political Background Leading to the Event

The State of Nuclear Disarmament in 2013

By late 2013, the global nuclear landscape was characterized by ongoing tensions, modernization programs, and limited progress on disarmament treaties. Key developments included:

- The nuclear-armed states' modernization efforts, notably the United States and Russia, renewing debates over nuclear stability.

- The absence of a comprehensive framework to conclusively eliminate nuclear arsenals, despite the existence of treaties like the Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT).

Political Climate: The period was marked by cautious diplomatic exchanges, with some states resistant to disarmament measures due to strategic concerns. The international community was increasingly aware of the catastrophic potential of nuclear weapons, fueling civil society's push for more aggressive disarmament policies.
