Introduction to German Wines

Germany's wine tradition dates back over 1,000 years, deeply rooted in its climatic and geological diversity. The country's vineyards are primarily situated along the Rhine, Mosel, and Elbe river valleys, benefiting from cool climates that produce vibrant, balanced wines with high acidity and nuanced flavors. The two main categories of German wines are white and red, with a significant focus on white varietals that excel in expressing terroir and elegance.

While white wines comprise approximately 70% of Germany's total wine production, red wines are increasingly gaining recognition for their quality and complexity.
